AN E-PUBLICATION FROM NACUC

November/December 2017

It's Almost Renewal Time!

As 2017 draws to a close, we'd like to take this opportunity to wish all of our members Happy Holidays and to thank you for your support over the past twelve months.

Memberships make up the lifeblood of our organization and your involvement is extremely important to our mission of bringing together credit union board leaders to share ideas and successful strategies. In fact, NACUC is the only organization in the country that is dedicated exclusively to the education, training and collaboration of board chairmen and future chairmen.

To enhance the quality of the programs and services NACUC offers members, dues are increasing next year to $475. Many associations base their dues on the credit union's asset size or charge for each individual director to belong, but NACUC dues remain a single amount for each member credit union regardless of size.

Here are some frequently asked questions that often come up during renewal time:

Q: What if our board has term limits, should we wait until after elections to renew our membership?

A: No, it's not necessary to wait. NACUC membership resides with the credit union, not the individual. If your membership is current and there's a change in leadership on your board, the benefits transfer to the new chairman. Keeping your membership up to date also entitles any member of your board to discounted registration fees for the NACUC Chairmen's Roundtable Forum and Leadership Development Seminar.

Q: Is the Roundtable Forum and Leadership Development Seminar only open to the Chairman?

A: The Roundtable Forum and Leadership Development Seminar are open to all volunteer board directors, not just chairmen. And, membership in NACUC entitles all directors on your board to discounted registration fees.

Q: What if I can't attend the Leadership Seminar or Roundtable Forum this year, how do I make the most of my NACUC membership?

A: The NACUC Chairmen's Listserve and online member directory make it easy to stay connected with your fellow chairmen throughout the year. As a member, you'll also have access to dozens of strategies and ideas shared during the Roundtable Forum. In addition, NACUC publishes a biennial CEO compensation report to help your board with one of its most important responsibilities--setting appropriate and competitive compensation for your credit union's top executive.

Q: How do I renew my credit union's membership?

A: On January 8, the individual at your credit union designated as the primary billing contact in our system will receive an email with an invoice. It can be paid with a credit card online by clicking "View Invoice Online," or the invoice can be printed and mailed to NACUC with a check.

Q: How do I update my contact information in the online membership system?

A: If you are the primary billing contact, you can log in and update contact information for anyone at your credit union. If you're not the primary contact, you can only log in and make changes to your own contact information. If the primary billing contact has recently changed, please call NACUC at 1-888-987-4247 or email nacuc@nacuc.org.

Trendy Kimpton Hotel Monaco Hosts Seminar in Portland

Leadership training is an essential part of a board's ability to rise to the challenges of the current economic, regulatory and competitive environment. The Leadership Development Seminar takes this training to an entirely new level.

Imagine you have two days to sit with other board leaders--and future board leaders to discuss strategies and solutions to help you board perform at its peak. That is what you'll find at this year's Leadership Development Seminar being held at the Kimpton Hotel Monaco in Portland, Oregon. From June 24 - 26, Board volunteers will learn about the art of governing, determining a shared direction for the credit union, the best ways to clearly transfer authority to the CEO and much more. The seminar also includes financial literacy training - a basic skill that volunteer directors must have to be stewards of the credit union.

Tim Harrington, governance expert and national speaker, will be returning for his sixth year leading the seminar discussions. Since 1996, Tim has been President of TEAM Resources, a firm providing consulting, strategic planning, and training to credit unions from coast-to-coast. He has worked with chairpersons and boards nationwide to improve their governance and strategic planning skills.

In addition, he has educated directors from across the country to understand financial statements and credit union financial conditions. His knowledge, wit and down-to-earth delivery keep participants engaged from start to finish.

As 2017 wraps up, I'm pleased to report it has been a very successful year. We've also received an enthusiastic response from many of our members willing to help grow the membership. Jerry Hauck, who joined the NACUC board in October, has stepped up to chair the 2018 Membership Committee. The committee will be made up of members located around the country who will work in collaboration with NACUC staff and the board to recruit new members. Our goal is to reach 150 members in 2018 and I'm confident that with a focused and energized effort we will get there!

On behalf of the NACUC Board and staff, I want to wish you all the best in the New Year!
