Registration Opens for Popular Roundtable Forum

This fall, board leaders from across the county will gather in Louisville, Kentucky from October 10-13 for the 42nd Annual Chairmen's Roundtable Forum. Called one of the best educational and networking events for credit union boards, this year's Roundtable Forum is being held in the heart of Louisville at the landmark Brown Hotel. This historic property has been named one of Conde Nast Travelers Top 10 Hotels of the South, and ranked among the top hotels in the world by Travel + Leisure magazine.

Equally as exciting as the destination, this year's topics are sure to spark meaningful discussions among board leaders. The following sessions have been developed to address critical issues facing today's credit union boards:

Rewarding CEO Performance: Exploring New Metrics and Models for Non-Salary Compensation

COMMENTARY
WITH MARTY GOLDMAN

This year, we are making a special offer to members who bring a non-member to the Chairmen's Roundtable Forum in Louisville. Any member that brings a non-member to the meeting will receive a 25% discount off of their registration fee, and the non-member they invite will receive 50% off of their fee. Both must register at the same time and the non-member must not have been a member within the previous year. Our hope is that like many who attend the Roundtable Forum, they will experience the unique value of our group and join NACUC. If you have a non-member in mind, I encourage you to invite them. If you will be taking advantage of this special offer, please contact Lauren Macauley at lauren@nacuc.org prior to registering to make sure the discount is applied.

For your spouse or guest who plans to attend the Roundtable Forum, my wife Brenda has graciously agreed to contribute the following article to the newsletter. There's a lot of good information about the program and I encourage you to share this with them.

As a spouse of an attendee, I consider some trips an adventure because you don't know what to expect. However this one will be an adventure in another way—it's in Louisville Kentucky! Whether you're into history, horses, baseball or bourbon you can find lots to do. We'll be staying in Louisville's legendary Brown Hotel. Built in 1923, it has had a storied history which you can view at brownhotel.com.

We will continue our guest breakfasts with giveaways. And, this year's guest tour includes a drive through Locust Grove Plantation, Old Louisville's preservation district with its stately Victorian mansions, and lunch at the Bristol Bar & Grille. Friday night will take us to the Kentucky Derby Museum at Churchill Downs including dinner and music! Here you'll experience the thrills and excitement of Thoroughbred racing through the museum's interactive exhibit.

Here are some websites that may help you in planning your Louisville adventure:

Louisville Visitors (you can request a guide be sent to you) Locust Grove and Old Louisville for more in depth information on the guest tour. Other attractions to check out on your visit are the Louisville Slugger Museum, Urban Bourbon experience and The Muhammad Ali Center.

Remember to bring comfortable walking shoes. It's also recommended to consider layered attire due to the weather. And don't forget to let us know if you require any special accommodations prior to your arrival.

I hope to see you in Louisville!
